current crushing season as on 7.6.2002 was 177.68 lakh MTs as against 180.51 lakh MTs as on 7.6.2001. The slight fall in the production of sugar this season is mainly due to unfavourable monsoon conditions and diversification of sugarcane for fooder purposes in Maharashtra.

(c) As on 7.6.2002, the stock of sugar with the sugar mills was 162.69 lakh MYs as compared to 164.41 lakh MYs on 7.6.2001.

(d) In order to boost the production of sugar, the sugar industry has been de-licensed with effect from September, 1998, allowing the entrepreneurs the freedom to set up new sugar factories or undertake expansion of the existing sugar factories keeping in view the techno-economic viability of their projects. Besides, loans from the Sugar Development Fund at concessional rates of interest for cane development, modernization/expansion and technological up-gradation are being given.
